Programs for High School Students

JumpStart

The JumpStart Program is designed for high-achieving students in grades 8-12 who are ready for a new challenge by taking college courses.

STARTALK is a grant-funded program at Howard Community College that seeks to increase the number of Americans learning critical need languages.

The program is a five-week intensive language program for high school students (grades 10-12, including recent high school graduates) to learn Arabic or Mandarin Chinese in HCC's World Languages Program during the summer.
